While many Headteachers have extensive experience looking after the operational side of running a school, they don't always have a broad range of business skills. That's why it's important to have other people on board - the governing board - to make sure the school has access to the expertise necessary to make the right decisions. With only 6-8 meetings per year (lasting 2 hours)- school governors have a massive impact on the running of the school without spending much time based at the school.
